

A DUMB BOOK

an e-book like no other

written by: martin
mind illustrations: you

A DUMB BOOK

an e-book like no other

written by: martin
mind illustrations: you

A DUMB BOOK

written by martin

copyright 2006 by martin j. murtonen All rights reserved.
Created and published electronically in Canada. No part of this book may be reproduced in any manner whatsoever without written permission except: IF YOU WISH TO DISTRIBUTE TO A FRIEND, FOE, OR FAMILY. YOU MAY SEND THIS AS A FREE .PDF FILE TO ANYONE YOU SO WISH SO LONG AS YOU DO NOT PROFIT FROM THIS BOOK. If you wish to print this book, please get in touch at martin@ihorace.com

Sales are strictly forbidden.

FIRST EDITION

Designed & Written by martin j. murtonen

ISBN - pending.

To contact me visit my website: <http://www.ihorace.com> or www.martybooks.com (first book to be distributed from there.)

If you are a publisher and like what you see, get in touch.

If inspired...let the world know through an act of kindness, creativity or unselfishness - or just pass on this book.

dedicated to imagination and those who believe.

and especially to my sister sarah d.

One day, Little Timmy looked out the window.

This is what he saw -

white.

Lots and lots of white.

And that was all he saw -

white.

white.

white.

white.

It happened to be snowing.

Pretty hard from the looks of it.

He even told his sister Mary-Beth.

She agreed. It was snowing pretty hard.
So hard all you could see was -

white.

Lots and lots of white.

Not much else.

They watched the white all day.

They missed school. That made them happy.

But they did say to each other, though it was nice to have a day off once in a while - they would be more than happy to go back to school tomorrow.

They kept watching. The white...

...started to turn black.

Oh my. Bedtime already?

What did we do all day? asked Mary Beth, as she brushed her teeth getting ready for bed.

Hmmm. Thought Little Timmy.

I think we saw a preview of Heaven he replied.

Do you think heaven will be that boring?
asked Mary-Beth.

Nope, Little Timmy replied. Did you not see?

See what?

Love.

Joy.

Health.

Peace.

Purity.

Truth.

Light.

Life.

Hope.

Oh, said Mary-Beth.

Little Timmy and Mary-Beth finished brushing their teeth, put on their pajamas, and climbed into bed.

As they closed their eyes and fell asleep...

...they dreamt of...

white.

martin is an illustrator/designer/web monkey. he has illustrated a kids book a comic book, and done several spot illustrations. he loves to write and draw.

he currently resides in prince george british columbia, where the trees are beautiful and pulp mill smells terrible. however access to nature and hi-speed internet make it a worthwhile place to live - that and the minimal traffic.

martin is currently working on some other illustration projects. he is always available to do more. his work can be viewed at his website: www.ihorace.com.

these last 3 paragraphs were written in lower case because he thinks it looks cool. so there.

A DUMB BOOK